Cultural Literacy in Europe

First International Conference

This international conference will bring together academics interested in the development of Literary and Cultural Studies (LCS) in Europe and beyond, as well as policymakers at European and national level.

Proposals for individual papers and project presentations should refer to one or more of the following areas:

- Current developments and issues in LCS research in any of the following four fields: Cultural memory; Migration & Translation; Digital textuality; Biopolitics, biosociality and the body
- How LCS already relates to the social and cultural challenges of 21st-century Europe
- How LCS can continue to do so in the future

The language of the Conference will be English.

A number of Early-Career Bursaries, worth £245 (€300) each will be awarded.

Deadline for submission of proposals and bursary applications: 31 August 2014

Further details of conference themes, submission of proposals, bursary eligibility and application procedures can be found at cleurope.eu
